Event

Webinar

7.14.20

10:00 am – 11:00 am PDT

The way that businesses operate has been forever altered by the Coronavirus Pandemic. Procedures have been added or modified, positions have been eliminated or consolidated, and many employees are being asked to perform their jobs in entirely different ways. Critically, employers who fail to update their employee handbooks to reflect these changes could face significant legal liability or lose valuable legal rights. Whether you are a business who is in the process of preparing its first employee handbook or a business who needs to update its existing employee handbook, this webinar will provide you with important information that you need to remember as you do so.
