ATLANTA, GA (May 12, 2008) - The Partners at Fisher Phillips have re-elected Thomas P. Rebel to the firm's Management Committee. Mr. Rebel has served on the Management Committee for nine years and has been with the firm for 30 years. His new term begins June 1, 2008. Fisher Phillips is one of the largest labor and employment law firms in the United States.

Mr. Rebel, a partner in the firm, serves on the Management Committee with Charles Caulkins and Roger Quillen. The committee, chaired by Mr. Quillen, serves as a board of directors for the 19-office labor and employment law firm. Each member is elected to a three year term in staggered elections.

Mr. Rebel said, "I am honored that my colleagues have selected me to serve another three years on the Management Committee. Our leadership team shares a strong commitment to grow the firm and continue to provide our clients with the type of counsel and assistance they have come accustomed to receiving from our attorneys."

Mr. Quillen added, "Tom is an integral part of our firm's management and has been instrumental in helping us to grow nationally. The firm and our clients benefit from his experience and vision. I anticipate another three years of growth and superior client service as Tom continues his important leadership role."
