Roland J. De Monte was quoted in an article entitled "Firms Tell Workers to Hang Up."

The article was published in Crain's Cleveland Business on April 30, 2012.

Chatting on a cell phone while behind the wheel won't get most employees fired.

But, as companies intensify efforts to protect themselves legally in a technology-engaged world, workers could see more stringent employer policies as they relate to cell phone use while driving.
